

NINO BALKHAMISHVILI

As a recycling artist, I create art from materials often regarded as waste. My works focus on environmental issues and reveal the beauty of the overlooked.

I address everyday, lively situations that often go unnoticed. By transforming trash into art, I aim to encourage viewers to change their perspective and reconsider the impact of their consumption habits on the environment.

My art is a call for mindfulness and appreciation of our natural resources and the small things that make our lives vibrant.
